Important – duty of fair disclosure for commercial insurance customers

From 12 August 2016 the duty of disclosure for commercial Insurance contracts changed with the implementation of the Insurance Act 2015 (“the Act”). For policies incepting or renewing on or after 12 August 2016 you have a new duty to make “a fair presentation of the risk”. To meet this duty you still need to disclose all material information to insurers that is known to you (or which ought to be known to you). Information is material if it would influence the judgment of a prudent insurer in establishing the premium or determining whether to underwrite the risk and, if so, on what terms. Material information does not necessarily have to actually increase the risk of the insurance under consideration.

Under the Act you will be deemed to know information if it is known to any individuals in either of the categories below:

- Anyone within your business in a senior management or decision making role, and
- Anyone responsible for arranging the insurances,

Furthermore, under the Act, you “ought to know” what should reasonably have been revealed by a reasonable search for information held internally or externally (including by any third parties to whom services are outsourced, including insurance agents). In order to be able to argue that you have satisfied the duty, should an insurer allege that you have not in the future, you should do the following:

- Carefully consider who are the individuals who may fall into categories above, record this in writing and explain your reasoning;
- Make enquiries of those individuals as to whether they are aware of any material information (having explained to them what this means);
- Record the results of these enquiries in writing; and
- Consider whether any material information could be held anywhere other than with the individuals identified. If so, you will need to carry out a reasonable search. This could mean making enquiries of individuals or may in some circumstances mean having to carry out an electronic and/or physical search of records.

It is important to bear in mind that if material information is held by third parties such as accountants or lawyers, or internally by branch offices, even if it is not known to the individuals you have identified, it may need to be disclosed. Your enquiries must cover all relevant group companies, branch offices etc. and the relevant personnel within them. You must ensure you make a full written record of the search made and the responses provided to ensure that you have evidence in the event of any claim being made. In completing an application for insurance, mid term change to your insurance or renewal of insurance, the accuracy and completeness of all answers, statements and /or information is your responsibility and it is of paramount importance that all relevant information is provided and that it is accurate. If you become aware of any material information that you supplied before the contract of insurance is finalised is incorrect or has been omitted, you should inform us immediately. If you are unsure if information is material you should disclose it.

Under the Act, in the event that there is a breach of duty to make a fair presentation of the risk, the remedies available to insurers will vary dependent on whether the breach is deliberate or reckless or otherwise. For deliberate or reckless breaches the insurer may avoid the contract, refuse all claims and retain the premium paid.

For other, non-fraudulent or non-reckless, breaches the remedy will depend on what the insurer would have done had a fair presentation of the risk been made. Here are the main examples.

- If the insurer would not have accepted the risk it can avoid the contract entirely, but must refund premiums paid.
- If the insurer would have accepted the risk on other terms, the contract is treated as if those terms applied.
- In the event that a higher premium would have been charged, any claims payments can be reduced proportionately. This provision is especially important because if insurers can show that they would have charged only a modest additional premium, the impact on a claim could be disproportionately large.

Please answer all questions on any proposal form fully and avoid answers such as “As last year”, or “See survey”.

Payment for our services We normally receive commission from insurers or product providers; we may also charge you a fee for handling your insurances. You will receive a quotation that will tell you the total price to be paid, and which identifies any fees, taxes and charges separately from the premium, before your insurance arrangements are concluded. Full payment of the premium and fees is due before cover commences, or as otherwise stated under terms of credit, or in the debit note, invoice or statement issued to you. You may be able to spread your payments through a credit scheme with a third party finance provider or insurer. We will give you full information about your payment options when we discuss your insurance in detail. In order to be able to offer you credit facilities, we are authorised by the FCA to act as credit brokers to advise on arranging premium finance facilities for non-investment insurance contracts and to assist with changes to those contracts. We only offer third party credit facilities with Close Brothers Premium Finance and Premium Credit Ltd. Failure to make a payment or complete a credit agreement prior at commencement or renewal may result in the non-commencement, non-renewal or cancellation of your policy.

You are entitled, to request information about any commission received in the placing of your business or the provision of credit facilities, prior to the conclusion of the contract. We reserve the right to charge a fee of £50 for each Policy issued and £25 per Endorsement or Duplicate document issued. You will be invoiced accordingly if such a fee is deemed necessary.

Handling client money Our financial arrangements with most insurance companies are on a ‘Risk Transfer’ basis. This means that we act as agents of the insurer in collecting premiums and handling refunds due to clients. In these circumstances such monies are deemed to be held by the insurer(s) with which your insurance is arranged. If Risk Transfer does not apply, such monies will be held by us in a Non-Statutory Trust account pending payment. The establishment of the Non-Statutory Trust Account follows the rules to protect money held by authorised intermediaries. However, you should be aware that, under the Non-Statutory Trust account rules, we are permitted to use such monies temporarily held to advance credit to clients generally. A copy of the Deed of Trust is available on request or may be inspected at our premises during normal office hours. If you object to your money being held in a Non-Statutory Trust account, you should advise us immediately. Otherwise, your agreement to pay the premium together with your acceptance of these Terms of Business will constitute your informed consent to our holding your money in a Non-Statutory Trust account. Interest earned on monies held in such a Non-Statutory Trust account will be retained by us.

Cancellation of insurances You should make any request for the cancellation of a policy in writing and any relevant certificate of insurance must be returned to us or to the insurer concerned. In the event of cancellation, charges for our services will apply (see Payment for Services above). The terms of your policy may allow insurers to retain the premium in full or to charge short-period premiums in the event of cancellation before the policy expires.

Commission and fees are earned are non-refundable. This entitles Club Insure Ltd to retain all commissions or fees in relation to policies and finance contracts placed through us even if the policy or finance contract is cancelled or transferred during the period of cover. If you instruct us to cancel or transfer your business within the period of a valid signed Long Term Agreement a cancellation charge of £500 will be payable to Club Insure Limited. Insurers may impose separate charges in respect of cancelling or transferring your contract of insurance within the period of a valid signed Long Term Agreement. Conflict of interests Occasions can arise where we, or one of our associated companies clients or product providers, may have a potential conflict of interest with business being transacted for you. If this happens, and we become aware that a potential conflict exists, we will write to you and obtain your consent before we carry out your instructions and we will detail the steps we will take to ensure fair treatment.

Credit and HM Treasury Sanctions List Checks UK law requires us to check whether or not our customers appear on the Consolidated List of Sanctions Targets maintained by HM Treasury. Checks will be performed on the commencement of our business relationship with you and periodically whilst this relationship continues. Insurance and finance providers may complete a credit check before providing quotations or facilities; such checks may leave a footprint on your credit records. If you do not want this to happen you must tell us before we start to research insurance costs for you.

Claims handling arrangements You should take note of the required procedures in the event of a claim, which will be explained in the policy documentation. Generally, insurers require immediate notification of a claim or circumstances, which might lead to a claim. We will employ due care and skill if we act on your behalf in respect of a claim.
